Stations [PLUS]: a collection of music not released on the original "Chikatetsu" album, these 13 new tracks are hand-selected by Tim Gerwing and are a must-have for any Inner Listener. See website for complete track listing.

CHIKATETSU is ambient/electronic music possessing a rare psycho-emotional resonance. The soundtrack of modern urban life, CHIKATETSU echoes vivid inner realities and a wide range of experiences: introspection, imagination, solitude within crowds, private moments of sentiment, memory, thought, and also the relationship of these highly individual experiences to a societal whole. This is truly music for the inner listener.

[CHIKATETSU]: ambient textures -> electronic musical maps -> hyper-cultural leitmotifs -> fractal audio perspectives -> psycho-emotional sonic imagery.

[MUSIC FOR THE INNER LISTENER] -> contemplative sonic environments expressing the expansion of culture and the modern self.

Listening to CHIKATETSU isn't merely a musical activity but an experience. The palpability of movement and environment are consuming without being threatening; there is, in other words, none of John Foxx's marvelously ominous coldwave dystopianism but rather the Vangelistic success of technology and mind over entropy, as in the extremely friendly and enticing Kitto Ne, an Ibiza extension. With all the doom and gloom currently invading every aspect of our lives otherwise, this disc is a vacation to our better nature. - Mark S. Tucker, FAME Magazine
